Celebrate Christmas in July with Local Author Jennifer Bee

Join us at the Amherst County Public Library Madison Heights Branch on July 11, 2022, for an evening with local author Jennifer Bee. The event will take place from 6:00 – 7:30 pm and include a reading from Bee's breakout novel, The Killing Carol. Jennifer will be sharing about her life as a full-time author. Refreshments will be provided, and books will be on hand for purchase and autographs. A question and answer session will follow the evening's presentation.

Bee will share a behind-the-scenes glimpse of the publishing industry and answer age-old questions like do you need an agent, how to get an agent, and how to take a story idea from concept to completion. Bee promises to share tips and tricks, do's and don'ts, and much more.

"One of my favorite things to do is meet other readers and help aspiring writers. That's why I am so excited for this event. I want people to learn from my mistakes and to share what I know and what I learned along the way," Bee explained.

The Killing Carol is Jennifer Bee's debut novel published by Level Best Books. In this Christmas mystery, the lead character and widow, Anna Greenan, receives a cryptic note, "On the first day of Christmas, my true love gave to me the reason your husband had to die." Each day of the twelve days of Christmas brings Anna a new note and clue. Will the notes help Anna uncover her husband's murderer, or will she become the next victim?
