Trails

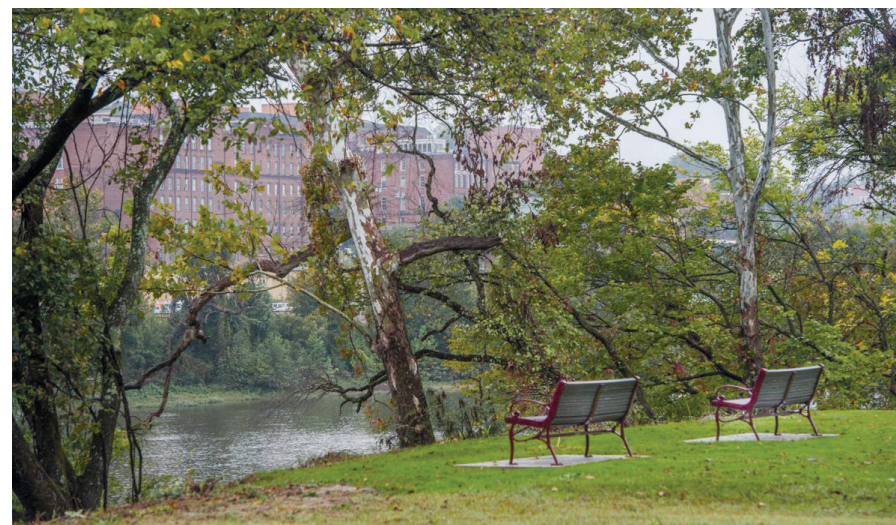

JAMES RIVER HERITAGE TRAIL

This blacktop hiking/biking trail is part of the Peaks of Otter Loop on the Virginia Birding and Wildlife Trail [www.dgif.virginia.gov] and has two access points. One is from Percival Island Natural Area. The trail extends from Lynchburg's Blackwater Creek Trail, crossing the railroad trestle onto Percival Isle from Lynchburg. It traverses the island for about one mile along an old railroad bed. The trail continues across the James River on another trestle, and continues along the James River in Amherst County for another 1½ miles. This is a beautiful scenic walk or bike ride through an historical area. The trail is also accessible in Amherst County at the end of Fertilizer Road [enter via the Central Virginia Training School]. Be sure to explore the exhibit, VIRGINIA ROCKS, at the JRHT trailhead at the base of Fertilizer Road.

RIVEREDGE PARK TRAIL

In keeping with the county vision to create a trail extending from Riveredge Park to the James River Heritage Trail, another portion of hiking/biking trail has been completed at Riveredge Park that now extends along the James River bank beyond the Carter Glass Bridge. Plans are being developed to continue this trail along the James River to connect to the James River Heritage Trail.

Recently, I had the pleasure of accompanying the Director of the Amherst County Recreation and Parks Department on a float trip down the James River. We met at James River Adventures in Riveredge Park. JRA is a relatively new business, located in the park, offering kayaking, tubing, canoeing and shuttle services.

After a brief chat with the James River Adventures manager we secured a rental kayak for the director then unloaded my boat. Once we got on the water, it was just a matter of a few minutes before we were downstream alongside Percival's Island. The city skyline was a fading memory as the sounds of the river and wildlife and nature surrounded us.

We approached the first white water riffle with the customary trepidation; yet, sailed through it with huge smiles on our faces and the exhilarating feeling of success. There were a few more riffles and a lot more fun in store before the trip would end.

Floating under the traffic crossing over the Carter Glass bridge provided an interesting perspective. A little further along, we waved for the camera as our picture was taken by some bikers above us crossing the James River Heritage Trail Bridge from Percival Island.

As we continued floating along the historic James, we imagined what it must have been like traveling the same path on a batteau centuries earlier.

We looked for turtles sunning themselves on the rocks along the shore while we were serenaded by a symphony of birds calling to us as we floated by.

Bald eagles are often spotted on this section of the James River. Regrettably, we did not see any on this trip. We did, however, spot some great blue herons and ospreys, one of which was carrying off a fish for lunch, obviously unwilling to share.

Paddling into the mouth of Opossum Creek, we took some pictures of the bald eagle's nest in a sycamore tree there. Bald eagles build their nests in large trees near rivers or coasts. A typical nest is around 5 feet in diameter. Eagles often use the same nest year after year. Over the years, some nests become enormous, as much as 9 feet in diameter, weighing two tons!

The clear, cool water was inviting on this warm summer day and customarily people stop to go swimming along the river. Unfortunately, time did not allow us that pleasure on this trip.

Passing a group of fellow river travelers in tubes rented from the JRA, leisurely floating the river, we noticed that several of the tubers had fishing lines in the water. We knew what they were having for dinner!

After floating through several more riffles and lots of beautiful scenery we reached the end of our six mile float.

We woefully got out of the water at the take-out point there.

We both agreed that the float did not last nearly long enough and both committed to returning soon. We loaded our kayaks onto the JRA van and trailer waiting for us there and were shuttled back to Riveredge Park in order to return to our normal daily routines while promising ourselves to return for another float in the near future.

James River Adventures rents canoes, kayaks, stand up paddle boards, tubes and will soon have a bateaux. They offer hourly rentals, and 2, 6, and 9 mile float trips. Their parent organization, the James River Association, is a nonprofit organization that works through government, stakeholders, and a large network of volunteers to monitor, protect, and promote the James River Watershed. You can learn more about the James River and the James River Association at jrva.org.

The James River is not the only waterway in Amherst County that provides such relaxation, refreshment, and rejuvenation throughout the county. Without doubt, Amherst County is A PERFECT SLICE OF VIRGINIA!
