Amherst High School to Host College and Career Expo

Amherst County High School will hold a community event to help middle and high school students plan for their future on Tuesday, November 19, 2019. Those who attend the “Roadmap for Your Future” expo will have the opportunity to talk with local businesses about future employment opportunities and career paths.

Representatives from manufacturing, engineering, construction, health care, law enforcement, emergency medical services, technology, and food service industries will all be present. Local colleges, universities, and technical schools will also be represented along with military recruiters.

The high school’s Academic and Career & Technical Education instructors will be present to showcase the programs offered to high school students. The expo will not only expose students to potential career paths, but connect them with the education and training they will need to achieve their goals.

Amherst County is dedicated to providing a superior work force through investments in education excellence and economic development. Events like this help connect local employers with the counties future work force.
